

.@FoxNews is a complete outlier here and other media outlets should not follow suit.

There are still 1M+ Election Day votes out there waiting to be counted - we pushed our people to vote on Election Day, but now Fox is trying to invalidate their votes.

We only need 61% of the outstanding votes in Arizona to win.

The votes are coming from "our counties," and the 61% figure is very doable based on what our other Election Day votes are looking like.